

Old woman in a bottle

Lorato Trok
Abraham Muzee

There was once an old woman. She lived by herself inside a bottle.

She complained all the time.

One day a fairy passed by her home.

She saw her looking very sad.

The fairy stopped and asked her, "What is the problem? Why are you so sad?"

"I am tired of living in a bottle," replied the old lady.

The fairy said to her, "Stand up, clap your hands twice, and turn around three times."

The old woman did
as she was told.

She found herself
in a small house.

After a few days
the fairy came back and found the woman still unhappy.

The fairy asked her, "What is wrong now? Why are you sad?"

"This house is too small. I do not like it," responded the old woman.

The fairy said to her, "Stand up, clap your hands twice, and turn around three times."

The old woman did
as she was told.

She found herself
in a big house.

The fairy came to see the old woman again.

She found her still unhappy and grumpy.

The fairy asked her, "What is wrong old lady?"

The old lady responded, "This house is dark and dirty."

The fairy said to her, "Stand up, clap your hands twice, and turn around three times."

The old woman did
as she was told.

She found herself
back inside the bottle.

The old woman could not see the blessings she received.

She ended up in her bottle, alone and unhappy.

Old woman in a bottle

Author - Northern Cape Teachers' Workshop 2016

Translation - Lorato Trok

Illustration - Abraham Muzee

Language - English

Level - First sentences

© African Storybook Initiative 2017

Creative Commons: Attribution 4.0

Source www.africanstorybook.org