

Donkey and Hyena

Angesom Abadi
Brian Wambi

English

Once upon a time,
Hyena and Donkey
lived near a city.

They met by chance and became friends.

They made an agreement to share food, and to defend themselves together.

They did everything together.

They even started living together.

One day, they went to a river to drink water.

On their way, they were chatting and laughing.

At the river, Donkey went downwards and was drinking downstream.

Hyena was drinking upstream.

Suddenly, Hyena stopped drinking.

He complained, "Donkey, why are you stirring up the water?"

Donkey kept silent and continued to drink.

Hyena was very angry.

"Don't you listen?
I'm talking to you,
Donkey," shouted Hyena.

Donkey looked at Hyena and asked, "Since when did water move from downstream to upstream?"

Hyena replied,
"Water started to flow upstream when we became friends."

Hyena had decided to eat Donkey.

Helplessly, Donkey said, "It is my fault for thinking we could be friends. Alright, eat me then."

Hyena jumped up and grabbed Donkey.

Donkey and Hyena

Author - ደሳለ ገ/ሄር and ደስታ ገ/ሚካኤል

Translation - Angesom Abadi

Illustration - Brian Wambi

Language - English

Level - First sentences

© African Storybook Initiative 2017

Creative Commons: Attribution 4.0

Source www.africanstorybook.org